Prepared on April 14, 2025

Overview

This document summarizes the compliance audit and factual timeline of the custody case filed under 24SN-DR00104 in Stone County, Missouri. The case centers around Micheal Lawrence Salmon's efforts to maintain parental rights and custody of his minor son, Felix Day Salmon, against systematic judicial misconduct, procedural bias, and false evidence introduced by opposing counsel and witnesses.

Compliance Audit Summary

- 25 motions filed by Micheal Salmon were either denied without hearing, ignored, or deferred indefinitely.
- Judge Matt Selby repeatedly ruled in favor of Petitioner without due review of opposing evidence.
- Attorney Joshua Garrett filed misleading statements, false accusations, and motions to suppress lawful evidence.
- Guardian ad Litem was delayed until the case was already set for trial.
- Psychological evaluation was ordered but never completed, yet trial was canceled on that basis.

Key Actor Summaries

Judge Matt Alan Selby

Presiding judge. Displayed consistent bias, ignored valid filings, struck proper pleadings, and denied motions before they were filed. Violated multiple Missouri Supreme Court Judicial Canons.

Joshua Garrett

Attorney for Crycella Freitag. Filed motions to strike opposing evidence, presented misleading claims, and used unlicensed third parties to interfere with parenting time.

Crycella Freitag

Mother of Felix. Repeatedly denied contact between Felix and his father, supported false statements, and participated in procedural obstruction including selection of unlicensed services.

Micheal Lawrence Salmon

Father and Movant. Filed over 40 motions, most of which were ignored or improperly denied. Consistently sought lawful resolution and due process while representing himself pro se.

Felix Day Salmon

Minor child at the center of this case. Subject to delayed reunification, improper court orders, and obstruction from mother and court-appointed agents.

Jozef Hanratty

Former roommate of Micheal Salmon. Filed false testimony claiming instability in Salmons housing, used in support of removing custody.

Kelly Truelove

Homeowner involved in the housing dispute. Refused to correct record after falsely implying eviction. Later admitted facts privately but did not recant falsehoods under oath.
